

Nicole Kalin

Founder & Chief Woman Whisperer

Nicole's passion for eliminating gender expectations and redefining "Woman's Work" fuels her as an in-demand keynote speaker, leadership strategist, respected coach, and host of the "This Is Woman's Work" Podcast.

Her direct experience at the C-level with a Fortune 100 company, as well as her work in coaching hundreds of women in business, has given her insight as to what – structurally, systemically and socially – is and isn't serving women and leaders within an organization.

Beyond Nicole's practical experience, her slight obsession with confidence sets her apart from the constant stream of experts telling us to BE confident, in that she gives actionable tools – not just stories – to BECOME confident.

Maintaining sanity in her different roles of mother, wife, and business owner successfully is an ongoing challenge, and she enjoys wine tasting and reading in whatever free time she has!

